| Featuring: | From Hong Kong to Hollywood: One Woman’s Inspirational Journey in Second Chances For Grace. Morphing in and out of a multitude of characters, writer-actress Kiki Yeung takes you through a day in the life of a Hong Kong-born immigrant who's trying to become an actress in America. Given the current conversation about diversity in Hollywood, Yeung's timing couldn't be any better. Her one-woman production Second Chances For Grace combines comedy, drama, multimedia and song. Watch and be inspired as she offers real-talk -- and no small amount of "Chinglish" -- addressing determination, healing and dream-chasing. There are 2 parts to the show 50 minutes in length each. This is an encore performance of PART 1 fresh off the 2016 San Diego International Fringe Festival. Show contains some mature content. Opening Act: Christiana Calumpit, #WhoAmI Being a third Generation Filipino-American is a little tough when trying to get in touch with your roots, especially being in a military family who travels every three years. #WhoAmI is |
